

You love music? You're in medicine?

European Medical Students' Orchestra and Choir (EMSOC) in the University of Rijeka, Croatia

July 26th till August 6th 2012

In summer 2012, University of Rijeka and the City of Rijeka will be hosting this year's annual meeting of the European Medical Students' Orchestra and Choir (EMSOC) for medical students and young doctors from all across Europe. For nearly two decades EMSOC has given students and young doctors the opportunity to enjoy an unique musical, cultural and social experience. We would like to invite students of medicine and similar medical professions who actively sing and/or play an instrument to spend an exciting time with European fellow students by participating in the orchestra or choir. The program for the course includes intensive rehearsals under the direction of ambitious and dynamic conductors, trips to the surrounding area of Rijeka as well as numerous social, cultural and academic activities. The course will culminate with two concert performances on the island of Rab and in the City of Rijeka.
